

Flying Visits to Organs Abroad

During my travels as an airline pilot, I occasionally come across organs abroad. Here are two pictures taken in All Saints Anglican Cathedral, Nairobi. It sounded very nice at a carol concert with the Nairobi Choral Society and Nairobi Orchestra.

The main case is in the South Transept. The choir organ is visible behind the arch on the left.
(Note: the pictures have been cropped to fit the page format while still showing essential features)

The second picture is taken from the East end, showing the choir organ above the arch on the left, and the base of the main case through this arch. The organ was built by J W Walker & Sons Ltd in 1955 and is well maintained by a local retired organ builder.

Another international organ, this time a 3 manual by the German firm Oberlinger at Christ Church Cathedral in Nassau, Bahamas. I had the pleasure of practising for my Christmas Carol service on it. Below, you see that the console is in the main case. The smaller case, which can be seen in the picture above, is behind the organist's back.

Simon Wood